

Be My Valentine @ LOVE ZONE

Feb 2013

How to look your sexiest this Valentine's Day.

Lingerie that flatters your body type

Babydoll/Chemise

Will hide that tummy and thighs. Also, Color-blocking and strategic color placement will direct all focus to the part of your body you want to

Boy shorts/Tanga Style

Vamp it up with a shorty or tanga style bottom for a sexy feel and a cut that flatters anybody's bottom.

Corset

Create all the right curves with a corset. Helps cinch the waist and create a bustier you

Demi-cup/Balconette Style

The biggest error small-chested women can make is wearing a bra with too much padding. Look for a balconette or demi-cup style with a small lift, in a solid color to flatter your figure.

UNCOMMON HOTSPOTS TO TURN THEM ON

Eyes—Skin around the eyes is delicate so you will want to use the lightest touch. Ask your partner to close their eyes and lightly drag your fingers along lower lids, around upper ones and back to the starting point. Do this 10 times.

Foot—The soles of the feet are a metropolis of acupressure points that can get the whole body amped with electricity. To do this, place both thumbs on the bottom of one foot at the heel and paddle them into the flesh one after the other. Go slow and work your way up. Then go on to the next foot.

Big Toe—This appendage is connected to the pituitary gland, an organ that is linked to hormone production. To activate, place a finger on each side of the big toe and roll it between your fingers. For extra kicks, lean down and suck on it.

Hand—The palm is packed with acupressure points that can send pleasure rushing to other parts of the body. To do this, take your partner's hand in yours and using your index finger, lightly trace circle on the palm. Then go a little deeper by pressing your thumb into the palm and massaging dime-size circles, kneading the muscles.
